

Oughtrington – Agden – Bridgewater Canal Circular Walk

There is limited parking on Oughtrington Lane near St Peters Church where we start the walk.

Walk up Oughtrington Lane to meet up with the A56. Turn left in the direction of Altrincham.

Walk about 200yds and there is a public footpath sign to the right just past a row of cottages, this is Whiteleggs Lane.

At the end of Whiteleggs Lane turn left and follow Kay Lane till it meets with High Legh Road B5159.

Cross the road and straight in front of you is a green public footpath sign, walk straight ahead with the field hedge to your right hand side. Cross the stile into the 2nd field and follow the wooden telegraph poles which is the line of the public footpath across the field and exit onto Agden Park Lane.

Turn left and follow the road until reaching the Wheatsheaf Pub which will be in front of you.

Turn right and walk down "Agden Brow" which is the A56.

After a couple of hundred yards cross the road and walk down Agden Lane until you meet up with Warrington Lane.

Doing a slight "dog leg" cross Warrington Lane and walk over the Bridgewater Canal Bridge.

Walk to the canal towpath and turn right, it is now a lovely walk alongside the Bridgewater Canal until you reach Lloyds Bridge, exit the canal here, turning right head up Oughtrington Lane and back to where you started the walk at St Peters Church.
